'Asylum' Granted By Reds to John

Grotewohl Claims Official Fled West

BERLIN (AP) — Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl told the East German Parliament today that West German security chief Otto John has been granted political asylum in the Soviet zone.

John disappeared into the East sector of Berlin July 20. The West German government has taken the official position that he was kidnapped, probably while drugged, or lured into the Red zone.

The East German radio announced last night that Red state security police had rounded up a "large number" of persons it said had been spying for the West German and American "secret services." That broadcast did not mention John by name, but as head of the Bonn government's internal security service he knew the identities of hundreds of persons sending information from East Germany to the West.

Claim He Quit West
The Soviets in previous broadcasts have claimed that John quit the West to work for German reunification.

Since John disappeared, a man purporting to be him has broadcast three times from East Germany, saying he went to the East to work for German unity and because "too many Nazis" had returned to power in the West German government.

Grotewohl told the lower house of his Parliament that he was making his statement about John to "end all speculation and sensation mongering" about his disappearance.

Excerpt of Letter
He read what he said was an excerpt of a letter to him from the 44-year-old man:

"Herewith I wish to thank the German Democratic Republic and you personally for the asylum which you have granted me.
"I wish to assure you that I want to work for the unity of Germany and against the danger of war."

An official British source in Bonn today said British authorities cut John off from their intelligence secrets about 10 months ago. The action, the source said, was "due to an increasing conviction on our part that John was unreliable."

Other Allied officials in Bonn disclosed today that John was involved in a bitter controversy with American and British intelligence officials in Germany before he disappeared.

John considered Nazi-like elements rather than Communists as the greatest danger to the young West German republic and concentrated his work on them, the officials said. He was a member of the anti-Nazi resistance movement during the war and a participant in the 1944 plot against Hitler's life.

Fairgrounds Old Entrance To Be Razed

LISBON — Decay and progress have joined to spell doom for one of Columbiana County's landmarks: the white wood gateway at the County Fairgrounds through which thousands of happy fairgoers have thronged into the century-old fair.

County residents attending the 109th County Fair Aug. 24-28, will find the old frame archway, rotted by rain and snow, replaced by a modern wire gateway.

New seven-foot fencing has been bought by the fair board to stretch across the grounds from the secretary's office to the speed barn.

Galen Greenstein, board president said the entrance temporarily will be closed only by chains. He said the old arch had become so decayed it was a hazard.

There will be a 40-foot main entrance and a 30-foot entrance near the horse barn.

To improve the appearance of the new judging shelter being erected, the board has decided to close in the gable ends with siding. Workers began today to put on sheet steel roofing.

A band will play each day during the fair, Greenstein said, beginning with the Columbiana High School band Wednesday.

An unloading ramp for cattle will be built to make this chore easier for exhibitors. Located at the south end of the cattle barns, the ramp will permit the unloading of three trucks at a time.

A new wash rack will also be installed between the cattle barn and steer barn for exhibitors to sponge off their stock.

2 To Face Grand Jury For Negley Burglary

LISBON — James Cantwell and Lawrence W. Call, both of Hammondsville, were bound over to the September grand jury on $1,000 bond each Tuesday when they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Felix Butch on charges of breaking and entering to commit larceny.

They were apprehended carrying about $150 of merchandise identified by sheriff's deputies as stolen from Pancake's Service Station and grocery store south of Negley on July 19.

Cantwell entered a plea of guilty and Call pleaded not guilty before they were remanded to Mahoning County jail at Youngstown. Cantwell was arrested last week by Jefferson County authorities and Call was taken into custody Monday at the Wellsville China Co. by Deputy Sheriff Russell Van Fossan and Wellsville police.

A third Hammondsville man is being sought by the sheriff's office in connection with the Pancake burglary when $500 worth of goods was stolen.

A teenage Hammondsville girl, who said she sighted the car while the groceries were being taken, was released after questioning by deputies showed she was not a party to the theft.

Senate Slashes Foreign Aid

Ceiling Is 800 Million Below Ike's Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the foreign aid cut voted by the Senate is too deep and will hurt the United States badly. He also said it reflects some lack of comprehension as to what the people in the Kremlin are doing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders faced a tough job today trying to head off additional multimillion-dollar cuts in the administration's foreign aid program.

They appealed to the Senate Appropriations Committee to save all possible of President Eisenhower's request for 3 1/2 billions of new funds for the global anti-Communist effort in the year which started July 1.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) called the House string group into closed session to vote on actual amounts to recommend in the final money bill of the session.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles received a setback yesterday when the Senate slashed another half billion from the separate foreign aid authorization bill. It set a ceiling 800 millions less than the President asked, along with restrictions he did not ask.

And it created the unusual situation of authorizing less than the House already has voted to spend.

Authorization measures normally are passed to establish maximums before Congress appropriates the actual money. But this time the House went ahead and voted to appropriate $2,895,944,000 in new funds after fixing a limit of $3,368,000,000. This latter authorization bill is the one trimmed yesterday by the Senate to $2,610,000,000, or about 286 millions less than the House appropriation.

The conflict thus puts the Senate and House at odds over two sets of figures at once, with little time remaining for agreement on how much to spend.

The House-passed money bill, on which the Senate Appropriations Committee continued work today, also allows some $2,313,000,000 in funds previously voted but not yet obligated for a total aid program of about $5,200,000,000.

Sen Long (D-La.) led the drive to chop an extra half-billion dollars from the authorization on a 45-41 Senate vote that found 26 Democrats and 19 Republicans opposing the administration. Earlier, Long was beaten 48-38 in an effort to cut more than a billion dollars from the measure.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Foreign Relations Committee opposed both cuts in vain. He was aided by two veteran Democrats, George of Georgia and Hayden of Arizona.

The reduced bill finally passed on a 67-19 vote with 15 Republicans and 4 Democrats opposed.

David Beebe, seven-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. George Beebe of Akron, formerly of Salem, is a medical patient in fair condition at the Central Clinic where he was admitted yesterday after he suffered a heart attack.

The Beebes and their children, Carol Jo and David, were passing through Salem, enroute to Pennsylvania on a vacation trip, when the child became ill at a restaurant here.

Rev. and Mrs. Beebe and Carol Jo are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bailey of E. 4th St.

Rev. Beebe was formerly pastor of the Methodist Church here.

Leaders Hunt Senators For Probe Of McCarthy

Sewage Bond Issue Resolution Tabled At Council Session

A resolution to permit the city auditor to negotiate exclusively with the bonding firm of Singer, Dean and Scribner of Pittsburgh to establish the cost of the mortgage revenue bonds for the proposed sewage project was tabled in last night's three-hour City Council session when representatives of two other bonding firms appeared unexpectedly before Council.

The resolution, which was tabled by a 6-1 vote with Democratic Councilman Charles Edwards voting negative, was attacked as "unfair" by E. A. Liska, a representative of Braun, Bosworth and Co., a Toledo bonding house.

Cites Unfair Advantage
While the resolution would have had no binding force on the city in regard to selling the bonds to Singer, Dean and Scribner, Liska contended that it would give the other firm an unfair advantage. Earlier work had been done on the matter by his company, he said.

"We came down here on June 14 at your request," he told Council, "and now we hear that you are negotiating with them (Singer, Dean and Scribner). We feel that we are being kicked out without reason."

Liska pointed out that his firm was ready to handle the bonds and that on June 16 he had sent a letter to Mayor Dean B. Cranmer saying so.

Quotes Firm's Figures
Quoting from the letter, he told Council that his firm at that time had stated that at the present sewage tax rate of 35 per cent, $300,000 in mortgage revenue bonds could be sold, and that with a 10 per cent increase in the tax, $610,000 worth of bonds could be issued.

C. J. Kilroy representing the firm of McDonald and Co. of Cleveland also echoed his views.

Earlier, Republican Councilman R. M. Linder voiced an objection to even receiving the measure, stating, "I am tired of having things come up in Council without warning."

"I object to receiving this resolution. It wasn't passed out to Council at the previous meetings and, as I recall, the president of Council asked at the last meeting of the finance committee to authorize Singer, Dean and Scribner to proceed. I stated then that it should be brought before Council and that bids of several firms be considered."

Retains Law Firm
By unanimous decision, Council decided to retain the law firm of Squire Saunders and Dempsey to aid City Solicitor W. J. Hunston in preparing legal work for the mortgage bond issue.

In other action Council voted unanimously to:

1. Vacate for the city of Salem an alley running west from S. Lundy between Franklin and Aetna Sts.

2. Vacate an alley running east between E. Pershing and E. State Sts.

3. Establish a part-time job of stenographer for the city solicitor with a salary of $75-$100 a month from August and $125 for each month thereafter. The action also stipulated that the man was to be bonded for $1,000.

4. Appropriate $200 from the general fund for the bicycle license plates and incidentals fund.

5. Appropriate $1,850 from the park fund to the park material fund.

6. Appropriate $500 from the general fund for the mayor's stenographer fund.

7. Establish a fine of five cents Turn To SEWAGE, Page 12

The dinner program was arranged by the Salem club which sponsored the Lisbon group.

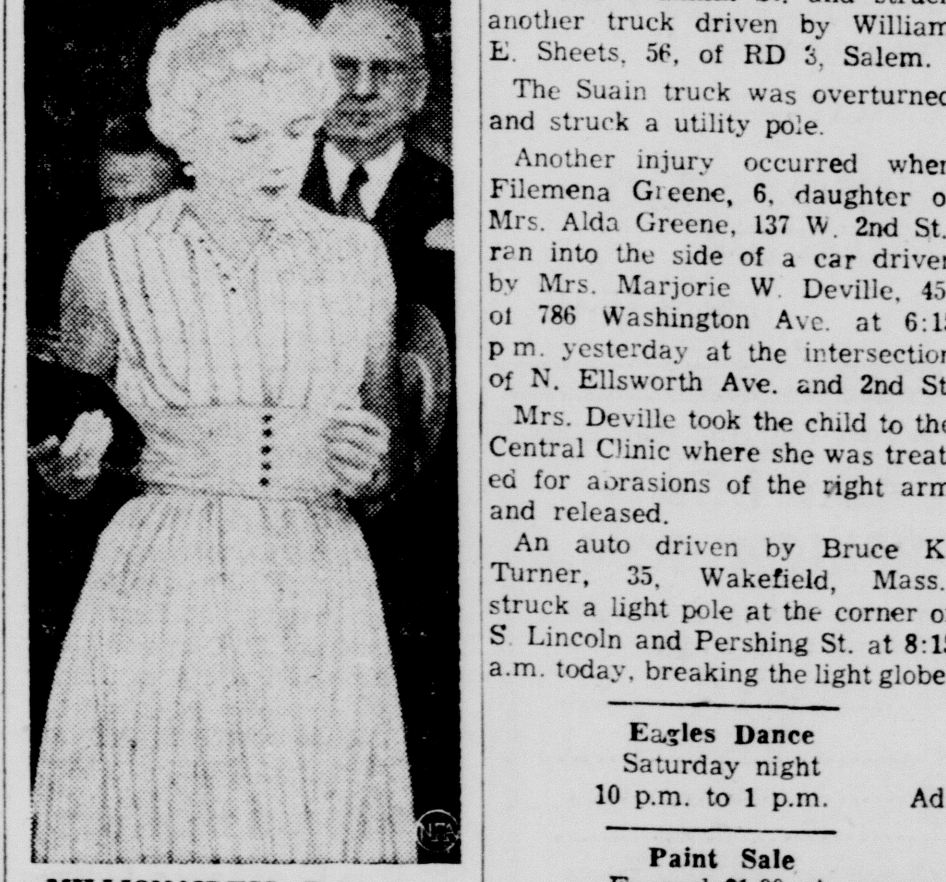

Principal speaker of the evening was Attorney Robert Manchester of Canfield, a director of Rotary International and a past district governor.

Ten other past district governors and the present district governor, Edward H. Broughton of Ashtabula were present.

Attorney Manchester, in his talk on the ideals of Rotary, pointed out the achievements Rotary accomplishes throughout the world and called for a greater manifestation of understanding of the other people's problems to offset misunderstandings among the nations of the world.

Hot Political Posts Finding Few Volunteers

Millikin, George, Russell, Byrd Eyed By Senate Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders combed a list of about 20 senators today in the hunt for what they called a middle-of-the-road committee to investigate the conduct of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

High on the lists compiled by Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic chieftain, were reported to be the names of Senators Millikin (R-Colo.), George (D-Ga.), Russell (D-Ga.), and Byrd (D-Va.).

Knowland had called for the naming before the day is over of three Republicans and three Democrats to serve as a special group to sift 46 accusations—some of them duplications—offered as the basis for a move to censure McCarthy.

"Judges" Seek Verdict
Meanwhile, the seven senators who sat as judges in the 36-day hearings into McCarthy's row with high Army officials arranged a closed meeting, to sound out prospects for agreeing on a verdict before Congress adjourns.

There were indications Knowland and Johnson were running into difficulties and delays in picking the new inquiry group as senator after senator whose name was mentioned ticked off objections to serving.

There was an obvious reluctance to undertake in Washington's summer heat a job most senator regarded as likely to be even hotter politically.

Knowland's GOP list, apparently compiled largely from suggestions made by Republican Policy Committee members, was said to include Senators Payne (Me), Case (SD), Carlson (Kan), Hickenlooper (Iowa), Barrett (Wyo), Crippa (Wyo), Bennett (Utah), Thye (Minn) and Martin (Pa.).

Efforts were being made to prevail on Millikin, chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, to head the Republican trio. Millikin didn't voice a positive "no," but he told a newsman he had "a lot of other work to do in Washington and in Colorado."

Three Want Off
Johnson was reported to have told George, Russell and Byrd he feels he must have one of the three of them among Democrats on the committee. All three said they didn't feel they could serve.

Also high on Johnson's list were said to be Senators Stennis (Miss), Hayden (Ariz.), Daniel (Tex), Sparkman (Ala.), Holland (Fla.),

Two Persons Hurt In City Traffic

Two persons were injured in the city yesterday as a result of traffic mishaps.

Francis W. Suain, 52, of Newton Falls, Pa., is reported in fairly good condition in City Hospital following a collision at 4:40 p.m. yesterday. He is suffering lacerations of the scalp and multiple abrasions.

According to police, a truck driven by Suain crashed a traffic signal at the intersection of S. Lincoln and Franklin St. and struck another truck driven by William E. Sheets, 56, of RD 3, Salem.

The Suain truck was overturned and struck a utility pole.

Another injury occurred when Filemena Greene, 6, daughter of Mrs. Alda Greene, 137 W. 2nd St., ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Marjorie W. Deville, 45, of 786 Washington Ave. at 6:15 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of N. Ellsworth Ave. and 2nd St.

Mrs. Deville took the child to the Central Clinic where she was treated for abrasions of the right arm and released.

An auto driven by Bruce K. Turner, 35, Wakefield, Mass., struck a light pole at the corner of S. Lincoln and Pershing St. at 8:15 a.m. today, breaking the light globe.

Farm Price Program Favored By Hunston

STUEBENVILLE — Attorney Walter Jay Hunston of Salem said here Monday night the Eisenhower-Benson program of flexible price supports, which has been adopted by the House of Representatives "even though my opponent (Wayne Hays, Democratic incumbent) voted against it, is a realistic approach to the farmers' problems."

But he added: "It isn't a final solution, but just as we can't wipe out a $275 billion deficit overnight, we can't pull all supports out from under the farm-support program without damaging the economy."

He said that "just as the tax bill adopted by Congress is a step toward the re-establishing of the free-enterprise system, so is the farm bill. It is a step away from the controlled economy toward the basic law of supply and demand."

Court Orders Bees To Be Kept At Home

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP)—Honey bees, who have found a happy hunting ground among the barrens at the Arcola Pool, better carry on their busy business somewhere else in the future.

The pool obtained a temporary injunction against the nearby Tally Ho Inn, where five bee hives are kept, ordering the Inn owners to show cause why they should not confine the bees to their own back yard.

Pool operators claimed the bees have stung 40 bathers.

Regional Rain for August

Weather maps below give you the U. S. Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for August. Note that this is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but is an ESTIMATE of the average rainfall and temperatures for the period.

The western half of the nation will still suffer from lack of sufficient rain. Normal or above normal rains are expected east of the Mississippi, except for subnormal rains along the Atlantic seaboard, north of Virginia. This area will continue to get moderate or scanty rainfall.

Temperatures will be above seasonal normals in the western third of the nation and also in the Middle and North Atlantic states. To enjoy below normal August temperatures are the upper Mississippi valley, Great Lakes region and along the Gulf coast. Central Plains area can look forward to cooler weather than July's abnormal heat.

CIO's Goal Of Jobless Pay Hike Would Cost 47½ Million

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A research expert says jobless benefit boosts sought by the Ohio CIO approximate 47½ million dollars a year.

James Maloon, research chief for the state tax department, came up with the estimate on the basis of current employment conditions. John Rooney, assistant CIO secretary-treasurer, said some 20,000 petitions are in circulation to place before the next Legislature an initiated bill calling for the increases.

The petitions require qualified signatures equal to 3 per cent of the 1952 Ohio vote for governor. That means nearly 109,000 names.

The CIO proposes an increase in maximum unemployment compensation payments from $30 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks. Minimum benefits would increase from $10 a week to $15.

Allowances for dependent children would go from $2.50 a child, with a limit of $5 a week, to $3 with a $9 weekly top for a like period.

Actor Seeks To Block Susan Hayward Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A legal maneuver to block Susan Hayward's divorce suit has been instituted by counsel for her husband, actor Jess Barker.

A petition of recrimination was filed yesterday by Barker's attorney, S. S. Hahn, with the judge who has the divorce case under submission. Hahn said he resorted to the little-used petition because Barker did not want to file a cross-complaint for divorce.

"He wants her back," the lawyer explained. "He wants her divorce denied on the grounds that she did things to him just as bad as the things she says he did to her."

Miss Hayward has said Barker tossed her into the swimming pool and paddled her. He said she provoked these acts by "unwifely behavior" that included burning him with a cigarette.

Corporate Stock Owners Happy At Tax Relief On Dividends

NEW YORK (AP)—Some seven million owners of corporate stocks are extra happy today over tax relief on dividends. That's because dividend payments this year are riding 7.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

And prospects are good for generous divvying-up with the share owners in the rest of the year.

Percentage gains in dividends are greater than the rise in corporate earnings. And they run counter to the general drop in industrial activity.

The new tax law may help stockholders to get a still higher percentage of corporate gross earnings. Tax relief will allow many corporations to bring down a greater percentage of their gross earnings to net profits after taxes.

Since, henceforth, the shareholder won't have to report all of his dividends as taxable income, April 15 will be a happier day for him. And the amount involved isn't small.

The Office of Business Economics of the Department of Commerce reports that corporations paid out about 4½ billions of dollars in dividends in the first six months of 1954. In the same period of 1953, a time of booming industrial activity, they paid less than four billions.

Not all stockholders have gained. Some have seen smaller dividend checks, or none at all. Companies cutting payments are scattered through most industries. But the federal agency reports that the industrial groups which have paid less as a whole are: Textiles, leather, non-ferrous metals, and automobiles.

To these the New York Stock Exchange, in its monthly magazine out today, adds the following from stocks listed with it: Farm machinery, American-owned companies operating abroad, and foreign stocks listed on the exchange.

For its 1,070 listed common stock issues as a whole, the exchange reports the gain this year in dividends paid out was 7.5 per cent. It says 924 of the common stocks paid dividends, with 520 selling out the same amount as last year. But 314 paid more than a year ago, and only 125 paid less. The 125 are scattered through all 27 of the categories in which it lists its stocks.

Biggest percentage gain in amounts paid, the exchange reports, was in the aircraft industry, up 77 per cent. Largest dollar volume was by the utilities—104 of their common stocks paying a total of 56½ million dollars, a gain of 11 per cent. A close second was the 473 million total paid to share owners by only 49 oil and natural gas issues.

Wall Street is betting on dividend payments increasing still more. First half earnings for industry as a whole pulled a shade ahead of the 1953 period.

Wall Street hopes a golden flow of dividends, plus tax relief, will lure more Americans into brokerage offices and push the number of share owners in the land above the present estimate of seven million.

Boy Caught under Wheel Of 2,500-Pound Tractor

That is what eight-year-old James C. O'Shea of Council Bluffs had to say about having a wheel of a 2,500 pound tractor parked on his chest.

James said it happened when his pants leg caught in the sprocket chain of his bicycle.

"I took one foot off the bike and tried to get my pants loose," James related. The next thing he knew he was off the bike and under the tractor.

Tractor driver E. T. Jackson, 59, said James skidded into the tractor and when Jackson stopped it the boy was under a wheel. His injuries were but bruises.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Delmar R. Willingham, 38-year-old painter, won 50 cents yesterday but lost his life. He leaped from the Anthony Wayne bridge into the Maumee River on a bet and drowned.

Willingham lost a game of pool and then two games of shuffleboard to a drinking companion, Niles Niemi, whom he had met several hours earlier at a tavern here, police said.

"There must be something I can beat you at," Willingham told his companion. "I'll bet you I can jump off the bridge."

The two rode to the bridge and Willingham then dove off, yelling: "It's a long way to Tipperary," police said.

U. S. Will Go To War To Keep Red Chinese Off Formosa

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Communist China makes a major attack on the Nationalist island of Formosa, the United States will go to war. Every top official willing to discuss American policy publicly or privately agrees on that.

But the Eisenhower administration is not willing, at least for the time being, to make that pledge in a formal treaty with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of the Chinese Nationalists.

Almost no responsible authority wants to talk about this aspect of American policy. It is too much of a diplomatic hot potato.

Yet it is a fact that the American leadership now gives evidence of being whipsawed on a global scale over a policy issue which seems to be deeply involved in the problem of an alliance with Formosa.

The issue is this: Is the United States preparing for war in the view that it is inevitable, or is it directing all its efforts toward avoiding war, without losing honor, in the hope of success?

At one extreme on this issue is South Korea's President Syngman Rhee, who has gone about this country on his current visit vigorously advocating combat to solve the problems of Asia, and particularly of divided Korea.

Rhee was rebuffed by President Eisenhower. Instead of the strong public statement he wanted, Rhee was persuaded to join Eisenhower in a general declaration of desire to unify Korea by peaceful means.

At the other extreme is India with its policy of neutrality, as between communism and the West, in the cold war. India's position is important because of Prime Minister Nehru's influence in Asia, generally assumed here to be great, and of his capacity to influence British policy.

In trying to build a system of anti-Communist alliances in Asia, the United States has been following a course far removed from the extremes as typified by Rhee and Nehru. But these positions exert constant pressure on the American course.

Chiang Kai-shek has publicly dedicated himself to leading a Nationalist Chinese liberating army from Formosa against the mainland, from which he was driven by the Reds.

American diplomats say he appears convinced the Chinese people would rise in wrath against the Reds to join his crusade. State Department officials, however, are not convinced this would actually happen. They have discouraged such ambitions in Chiang while seeking to build up his defensive strength.

The Eisenhower administration seems clearly to conceive of Formosa as a defensive position essential to the security of the American defense line in the western Pacific—not as a base from which a successful assault could be launched on Red China except as one phase of a much larger strategy.

The Chinese Reds, however, have been as belligerent about Formosa as the Nationalists have been about the mainland. They are continually threatening to seize it, and their threats have sounded much louder in Washington since the Indochina settlement.

Secretary of State Dulles reminded newsmen yesterday the U. S. 7th Fleet is in the area to protect Formosa in event of a Communist attack. But Dulles added that while some thought has been given to bringing Formosa into a treaty with this country, there has been no decision and no change of policy. Dispatches from Formosa have given evidence of a desire on the part of Chiang for such a link.

Authorities suggest, however, at least four strong reasons which may bear upon the administration's attitude:

1. The United States would have very little to gain, since Chiang has little to offer not already committed under a current informal arrangement.

2. Other countries in Asia whose friendship Washington wants are regarded here as disliking Chiang and any formal alliance with him might be a handicap in dealing with them.

3. Chiang might use the formal commitment of a mutual defense pact to involve the United States in a war with Red China by attacking the mainland or creating some incident which would lead to war.

4. There is at least an implication that some officials think the United States should keep its policies flexible and not make a 10 or 20-year treaty with a refugee government of uncertain long-range tenure. This involves relations with Red China. Official statements on that issue, while emphasizing American rejection of Peiping's recognition, do not fit neatly close the door to recognition if the Chinese Reds change their ways.

Area Farmer Cuts Cost Of Farm Pond

NEW WATERFORD — C. M. Lindsay of New Waterford, a dairy farmer who hopes to head off future droughts with a farm pond he's digging, has found a way to cut costs of construction.

Faced with stubborn, baked clay, the bulldozer operator has been unable to move the earth rapidly. Lindsay borrowed a subsoiler to crack the hardpan so the bulldozer can go to work.

He sets the subsoiler blade to an 18-inch depth and uses it about six feet between cuts. He figures in this way, he can reduce the time of construction by a day, since the 'dozer can build the fill faster.

The clay fill is so dry that each layer must be soaked with water from a nearby spring before packing.

Watering his 60 head of cattle is only one use he plans for the pond. He intends to irrigate his crops, stock the water for fishing and use the pond as a safeguard against fires.

County Soil Conservation Service workers drew up plans for the pond.

TABLES COURT AMENDMENT — WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has tabled a proposed constitutional amendment resolution fixing the Supreme Court membership permanently at nine justices and requiring all federal judges to retire at 75. The resolution was sponsored by Sen. Butler (R-Md.) and passed the Senate several weeks ago.

Voice Student Ordered To Quit Calling Opera

BOSTON (AP)—Mona Lisa Taft, 18, a student of voice, has learned that making day and night telephone calls to an impresario is no way to impress him.

Superior Court Judge Edward J. Voke placed the girl on probation yesterday after she promised not to call Boris Goldovsky any more. The girl said she was seeking a singing part from Goldovsky, head of the New England Opera Theatre.

Aims At Starlings, Gets City Lighting System

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP)—With nary a starling to show for his efforts, James Welch, a retired railroad conductor, paid a fine of $25 and costs of $6.80 before Judge J. Allen Vickery yesterday.

It seems Welch was trying to get the starlings out of the trees in front of his home. His efforts with a shotgun violated an ordinance about shooting in the city without permit.

What aroused the local police was the fact his blast cut through a high tension wire. This fell on two distribution wires of the city's electrical system, and the whole town of 8,000 persons was blacked out Monday night for four hours.

Ex-Grid Star Denies Theft Of U. S. Mail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Ohio State football star James (Shag) Thomas, 29, yesterday denied he stole mail while working at the Columbus post office. He said his arrest was due to a "mixup" over a little "horseplay." A preliminary hearing was set for today.

He was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon after two postal inspectors said they saw him leave work Monday night with a bundle of letters.

He had been employed at the post office two years and also wrestled professionally throughout the Midwest under the name of "King Toby."

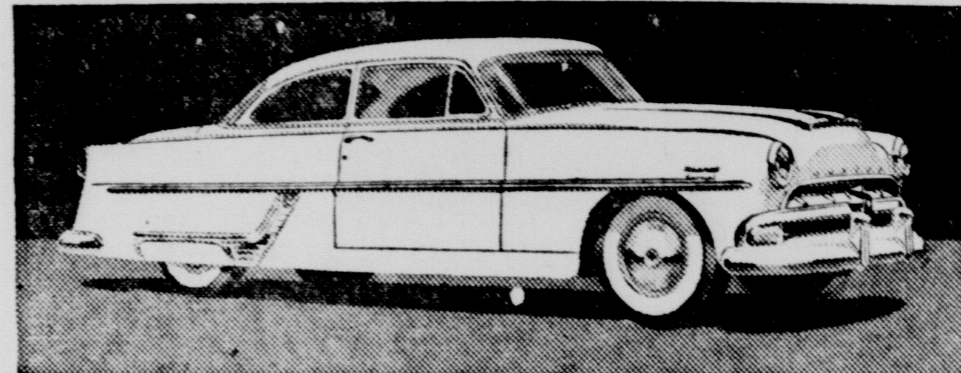

Thomas told the commissioner he had been pulling practical jokes on a co-worker, switching mail on him. He said he ran from the two inspectors when they fired at him because he didn't know who they were. The inspectors said they fired a shot over his head when he ran. The inspectors, T. J. Meehan and C. A. Maddux, said Thomas jumped over a riverbank near the post office when they fired and slid into the water. Postal officials said most of the mail was lost in the river. Thomas was a guard on the 1948 and 1949 Ohio State university football teams. He later played for the professional Green Bay Packers.

Standoff On McCarthy

The six-member senatorial inquiry committee that will be appointed to look into the past behavior of Sen. Joseph McCarthy has been handed the hottest potato in politics.

There is no satisfaction for either group of extremists on the McCarthy issue in the Senate's disposal of the Flanders proposal for a resolution of censure against the Wisconsin senator.

People who see in Sen. McCarthy the embodiment of everything they don't like are not going to see his hide nailed on the congressional bar door.

People who see in Sen. McCarthy the embodiment of everything they admire are not going to see him given a vote of approval.

We do not know how the six-member committee will handle the hot potato and we doubt that its members, when they are appointed, will know either. But something had to be done to keep extremists on the McCarthy issue from getting into a deadlock of irreconcilability that might have stretched out the dying days of the congressional session through the entire month of August.

The Flanders proposal for a resolution of censure came from the heart. There can be no doubt of the Vermont senator's sincerity. But it did not come from the head, because it was presented in such a way that it made action impossible.

In the first place, it disregarded the role of the senatorial committee in steps leading up to definitive action; it had not been handled in such a way as to permit committee consideration. In the second place, it made no presentment of specific charges. As far as the proposed resolution was concerned, it amounted to asking senators to go on record as being for or against one of their associates in a popularity contest.

The inquiry committee will consider specific charges. Sen. McCarthy would have preferred to be upheld in a vote on the Flanders proposal, itself. He did not win that point. His critics would have preferred to see him censured on a basis of his general behavior; they lost that point.

In the meantime, there will be no deadlock between irreconcilables — and the American people won that point.

Too High To Jump

The United States commissioner in Denver set bail at $100,000 apiece for the quartet of Communists picked up out there this week — and there will be the customary outcry that this is too much to ask for any suspect's temporary liberty.

The fact is, it is too little to ask if these four are important members of the Communist conspiracy, because someone might raise the $400,000 and have them turned loose. That would be, in all probability, the prelude to their disappearance.

There is some doubt in their case that they are worth the forfeit of $100,000 apiece to the conspiracy. The going rate of exchange is still likely to be the $25,000 bail jumped by Gerhart Eisler in 1949. When he subsequently turned up in East Germany, there was no room for any further doubt that he had jumped his bail under party orders.

The Eighth Amendment to the Constitution says "excessive bail shall not be required." The word "excessive" permits a wide latitude of interpretation. For a full-fledged member of the Communist conspiracy picked up on active duty, a million dollars hardly would be excessive, in view of the damage the conspiracy hopes to do to the United States and in view of the probability any reasonable bail bond would be forfeited for the sake of keeping the conspiracy's most valuable agents on the job.

Statewide Troubleshooting

The Sheppard case that has stimulated the imagination of every amateur criminologist within hundreds of miles of Bay Village in the Cleveland area also has stimulated an idea that Ohio needs a statewide trouble-shooting service.

There was created in 1951 a Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. But its operation was restricted to the collecting, filing and preserving of criminal records of felons and known and habitual criminals. It is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't go very far.

It has failed to satisfy those who believe Ohio should establish an investigating authority manned by skilled criminologists whose services would be available to local government on a voluntary basis. This bureau would do for local government, in other words, what the Cleveland police department was called in to do belatedly for Bay Village when an undermanned and inexperienced police force was unable to cope with a major investigation in a case of murder.

When the General Assembly convenes next January, it would do well to review the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, with a view to expanding its functions.

Whose Ox Is Gored

By DAVID LAWRENCE

McCarthy 'Censure' Shows Senate Double-Standard

There ought to be emblazoned over the Senate chamber an age old slogan: "Justice — it all depends on whose ox is gored."

Thus for months now several Democrats and two or three misguided Republicans in the Senate have been trying to crucify Sen. McCarthy for using what they regard as rough tactics in dealing with Communist sympathizers, Communist party members and the whole apparatus by which the Soviet has been trying to infiltrate American institutions as well as the government.

McCarthy isn't the most tactful protagonist in the world and has made many mistakes, usually when goaded by his opponents or by uncooperative witnesses, but the move to censure him for "acts unbecoming a senator" is transparently aimed at weakening — in the court of public opinion — the influence of the nation's chief prosecutor of Communist activity.

For several days now, the Republican leaders have been at a loss how to meet this attack, which isn't just against McCarthy, but is a carefully designed effort to smear the whole Republican administration and party. Now they have evidently discovered that the strongest defense is a strong offense.

So Majority Leader Knowland uncovered a bit of recent history which most people have forgotten, if indeed many paid much attention to it when it happened.

THE EPISODE started in the last days of the 1952 campaign with attacks by Democratic party spokesmen — particularly Mr. Truman — on the loyalty and honesty of Gen. Eisenhower. This correspondent called attention in a dispatch of Oct. 30, 1952, to this effort to smear the Republican nominee by impugning his loyalty and integrity, and noted that a "top secret" document had been "leaked" for the purpose of political campaigning.

Knowland now calls the facts to the attention of the American people. He says that a secret, classified document was made public on Oct. 27, 1952, by Sen. Morse who had decided to campaign for Gov. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, Morse since has called himself an "independent."

The Oregon senator — who has been critical of the "methods" of McCarthy — says that the document was released to him by President Truman, and that the latter, as commander in chief, had a right to declassify the document.

Sen. Knowland, however, says that after the Morse speech was made, he asked the Defense Department and was told that the document was still classified as "top secret."

THE MAJORITY LEADER says

if Truman was not just using official military documents for political purposes, he should have released the paper in question at the White House to all Americans at the same time and explained the reason for his action.

The point at issue relates to the withdrawal of American troops from Korea in 1949 — before the recent Korean War. It is known that the Joint Chiefs of Staff, of which body Gen. Eisenhower was a member, was asked in 1947 for its opinion on the defense of American interests in the Far East and came to the conclusion that, if a general war broke out in the Far East, there would be no sense in having American troops bogged down on the mainland of Asia.

This is a far different thing from a diplomatic decision by the President and secretary of state to withdraw American troops when no war was on and when, as a step in peacetime, the United Nations asked all governments to withdraw their troops.

Eisenhower in 1952 was criticizing the American position in having withdrawn our troops without getting any guarantees of a unified Korea, and his speeches were directed toward a phase of the problem wholly unrelated to the specific military situation with which the secret classified document had been exclusively concerned.

It is a fact, therefore, that Truman did allow in a covert way some of the contents of the document to be used but did not publicly declassify the whole document until several days later. This is what has come to be known as "Trumanism."

THE FACT THAT a military paper of the highest confidential nature was "leaked" to one senator and its contents made public by him in the midst of a political campaign makes a shambles of the charge that the Wisconsin senator received and made public reference to a document dealing not with military affairs, but with personnel matters related to the work of his own investigating committee — which had been given to him by an employee of the executive branch of the government.

There are civil service laws which encourage the giving of information by executive employees to Congress, although there are prohibitions about transmitting certain confidential information.

Apparently secret documents of a military nature can be classified or declassified at will by a Democratic party president without arousing the righteous indignation of any Democrats in the United States Senate. For resolutions of censure evidently are reserved solely for use against Republicans who over zealously fight Communism. It all depends on whose ox is gored.

Women's Work

Every smidgin of Indian blood in me boiled and bubbled when I read that the braves at Ruth Lake, Labrador, where the white man is starting to gouge out iron ore, are standing on their aboriginal rights.

The industrial age has dropped into their wilderness like something out loose from a balloon. Yesterday all was quiet and serene. Today, power shovels are clugging and hiring bosses are looking over the local yokels for day-wage material.

But the braves aren't having any. If white men want to go fishing, they can hire an Indian guide for the going rate of $10 a day, which includes lunch. But as far as working in the ore pits or other menial labor is concerned, this is women's work and a double ough to all of it. The red brothers aren't rushing to get themselves fitted for neck holks—not yet.

A few have been willing to help look for outcroppings of the red stuff the white man scoop up and send south to make guns, stretchers, rockets and ambulances. But that is as far as they have gone in the project that has caused a railroad, power stations and a town to be built hundreds of miles north of nowhere in the middle of nothing. They won't dig.

The only place in our own civilization where a man can be a brave and conserve his energy for fighting in the armed services. Even there it isn't the way it used to be. A fellow has to stir about and help keep house, instead of concentrating on the many arts of tracking, shooting and breathing deeply while lying on the flat of his back.

In all other categories, a man is expected to stir his stumps to some purpose. This has gone to such extremes some men now deem it unworthy of their pride if their squaws have to lift a finger. They let their best women grow fat and insolent in idleness, encouraging them to find mischief for their idle hands and malice for their idle minds.

My Indian ancestors kept their squaws busy. They set them to cracking corn and chewing leather. They chopped out arrowheads and rustled firewood. They took care of the stock, kept the pot boiling and kept their mouths shut until the head of the household brought home something to be boiled.

When the show went on the road, the squaws lugged the tent poles and the braves traveled light, in case anything came up. No one who understands the Indian arrangement ever had any illusions about Minnie Ha Ha and Hy Awatha. Hy was a beast who never helped his wife with the dishes.

Women are better workers in all respects than men. They are quick to learn and harder to forget. Their fingers are nimble and so are their wits. They stand sturdily better, are more inventive and less high-strung. They are more adaptable, harder, easier to get along with and stronger in the long pull than the delicate and perishable male of the species.

Those relatives of ours up in Labrador will be well advised to stand fast and take no nonsense about going to work. With every drop of Indian blood that's in me, I urge them to make one last stand for the inviolability of the male right to foist off all work on women if men can get away with it—and the Indians boys have been getting away with it for thousands of years.

And So on, and So on, Down Through the Years

Historic Phrase Makers

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Politicians have long learned to use a phrase to stir the popular imagination. Such a phrase saves the people from the need for thinking all they have to do is to repeat the phrase over and then they believe that it is true. Theodore Roosevelt invented the phrase, "The Square Deal," which actually had no precise political meaning. The assumption was that most politicians, when playing the card game, poker, then as popular as bridge or canasta in this generation, dealt the cards from the bottom as well as off the top of the deck, but that Teddy dealt straight.

Franklin D. Roosevelt improved upon his distant cousin's phrase and made it "The New Deal," a rather confused adventure in politics and economics, having to do with doing at every political moment what came naturally without regard to the future. It was a most successful phrase because it gave Roosevelt four winning elections.

WINSTON CHURCHILL came back into the politics of Great Britain, when it seemed as though Hitler would win World War II, with the dramatic phrase, "Blood, Sweat and Tears"—which is all that he could offer his people. It electrified them into resistance to the enemy. It stirred them to an historic effort of the greatest magnitude. It was a wonder-working phrase.

Imagine my surprise when I came across a political poster of 1844, headed "Hurrah for Birney & Liberty!" Never having heard of Birney but being a collector of anything that comes my way, I got a photostate of the poster from Larry Johnson who sells groceries in Syracuse and runs an old-fashioned country store.

It would seem that back in 1839, the Abolitionists, organizing the Liberty party, nominated James G. Birney for the presidency, but he declined. In 1843, they repeated this nomination of James G. Birney who got 62,000 votes in the election of 1844 which was sufficient to upset the hopes of Henry Clay and resulted in the election to the presidency of James K. Polk.

THE BIRNEY poster contains the following paragraph:

"Anti-Monopolists, come and lend your aid for the overthrow of a mountain monopoly, compared with which all the other monopoly whose capital is Twelve Hundred Millions of Dollars, all invested in human muscles and bones and sinews; and which, in its results, not only extorts from its immediate victims their toil and sweat and tears and blood, but annually drains uncounted millions from the pockets of the free North, and renders American Republicanism a hissing and by-word on the lips of all the Despots of the Old World."

There is no reason to believe that Winston Churchill ever heard of James G. Birney or his poster and we must assume that Churchill invented, "Blood, Sweat and Tears" out of his own head, he being very good at that sort of thing.

But this is an interesting historic fact. The Birney poster was for two mass meetings in Madison County, New York State. For years this particular poster hung in a country store in a town called Canesara in Madison County. Probably because nobody could pronounce Canesara, they changed the name to Sullivan which is what the town is now called to the everlasting joy of the Irish. Not many miles away is Popeye, a town in which, I am informed, lived a fine American girl, Jenny Jerome, who in due course became the mother of Winston Churchill.

NOW, THERE IT IS. Winston Churchill got his wonder-working phrase pre-natally by osmosis. If you do not believe that, you will not believe that Bacon wrote Shakespeare, that Sam Rosenman wrote Franklin D. Roosevelt's speeches, that sometimes Haydn wrote Mozart and vice-versa, that nobody ever rolled his own. You must wonder that Socrates never wrote a book or why the learned and wise and fat Dr. Johnson has come down to us through the gay and somewhat profligate Scotsman, Boswell.

Well, I offer no explanation for these phenomena. But the Birney poster is real even if Birney is so forgotten that his name is hardly an historic memory as it is with so many other candidates for the presidency.

As for Winston Churchill, he still holds forth in fine Georgian English, the master phrase-maker of our time.

Power Partnership

By RAYMOND MOLEY

PORTLAND, ORE. The result of the recent Senate battle over the atomic energy bill of President Eisenhower's victory of President Eisenhower's policy of partnership in the generation and distribution of electric power.

All signs indicate that it will not be the last for the President's idea is something that finds a warm reception in the public mind. The proof of this lies open to the inquiring visitor to the Northwest.

This section, torn for years by controversy over the choice between public and private power, has discovered that such a choice need not be made. There is a sound workable middle ground which the President calls "partnership" and which informed people here call "local participation."

The practical application of partnership was a reality here long before Eisenhower entered politics, and there are good reasons to believe that he got the idea from here through former governor and now Interior Secretary McKay. It is significant also that Eisenhower as a candidate in 1952 made his most important announcement of policy in Seattle.

VARIOUS EXPLANATIONS are given here of how "partnership" originated, but it seems to me a logical outcome of the Northwest power pool. That cooperative plan of stabilizing and equalizing the flow of electric power from the generator to the customer began in 1915 but reached its present form early in World War II.

At the present time it includes, in what is sometimes, and not quite accurately, called a "grid" private electric utility companies, public ownership plants of both municipal and utility districts, federally operated hydro plants, and the Bonneville Power Administration. It extends into several states to the east to Fort Peck in Montana, and the Utah Power and Light Company.

Power comes from both steam and hydro plants. The pool rests almost wholly upon co-operative efforts and works through an operating committee which maintains constant contacts among the participating agencies.

When there is a shortage at one spot, it is supplied from others through transmission lines which interconnect the participating agencies.

THIS POOL SHOULD be sharply distinguished from the Bonneville Power Administration of the Interior Department, which produces no power but distributes and makes contracts for power generated in federal plants. The BPA, however, is a participating member of the pool.

From this co-operative or partnership plan of distribution there has now grown the idea of group building of new hydro facilities. This involves financial contributions from more than one agency, public or private, toward the building of the project and the taking of power therefrom under contract.

The two facilities which are most prominent are the Priest Rapids dam, reservoir, and power plant already authorized by Congress, and the John Day project now under study.

BOTH ARE on the Columbia River. The former will include among the partners a number of Washington public utility districts. The latter will include the two big private companies of Oregon, a Washington private company, and perhaps some public bodies. Significantly, such inveterate public power advocates as Sen. Magnuson are now talking partnership.

The people of these states have come to realize that what is needed for the growth of the region is money. And money from private investors has the same capacity for development as federal contributions and may well be easier to get.

Rubirosa And The Western

Unless the U.S. Immigration Service is permitting itself to be used in a Hollywood publicity stunt, we may see senators, the Supreme Court, party leaders and even the White House ultimately drawn into the issue of whether the United States should be compelled to take Porfirio Rubirosa and Zsa Zsa Gabor in a movie western.

Porfirio, all set to star with Zsa Zsa in a capitalization of publicity resulting from a scandalous degrading of matrimony as a sacrament and as binding thing, has been syndicated lawyer, Michael Kohn, has filed an appeal with the Washington headquarters.

We deeply suspect press agency. But if the Immigration people are leveling and do not let a quick brushing off of wedding (and a couple of black eyes) become the excuse for a movie glorification of two principals, there may be excitement ahead into which even the United Nations will figure.

Rubirosa was first blocked by a ruling that he was here on a visa which did not entitle him to work. He then asked for a special permit to work as a movie actor. The permit was refused on the grounds that he had no experience in movies. (Ya mean his performances have been all in REAL LIFE! ! !)

Porfirio and Zsa Zsa seem to rate in importance somewhere between the Indochinese crisis and the Suez Canal situation. Washington can get into the act. We would not be surprised if President Eisenhower had to announce his Rubirosa-Gabor policy. Zsa Zsa has no trouble over a permit. She turns up everywhere with what must be the proper registration and operating licenses.

We think Porfirio can prove he is a movie actor and that he falls somewhere between the late Rudy Valentino and Heigh-Ho-Silver in public appeal. We see something of Sabu, the late John Barrymore and Johnny Weissmuller of Tarzan fame in him. He is handsome in a Latin way, wears clothes well and is certainly figure in the world of romance.

In the scheduled western, he might prove quite a cowboy up to a point were he made with "I'm a Lone Cowhand" or "Home on the Range." It is possible he might prove to be the first cowboy to play the uke or banjo with a polo mallet.

There is talk of a big scene in which Porfirio, ambushed by the U.S. Immigration agents, is rescued by a posse headed by Zsa Zsa on her pinto pony, "Black Eyes." We wouldn't know. But we think of nothing America needs less than a Hollywood movie based on publicity in marriage matters which at no time smelled good in most American homes. ("Tex" Rubirosa! . . . "Shane" Rubirosa? . . . "Cheyenne" Rubirosa? . . . "Porfirio the Kid"? . . . None of 'em sounds good. And fancy as western with a girl cast as "Clamity" Zsa Zsa!!)

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The gestapo rides again. This time its color is as red as the blood it spills. The gestapo men and prisons have been taken over by the Soviets.

Like the old gestapo, the SSD has its whims and its tortures.

No working man, no businessman is safe. The working man is closely watched because his skill is vital, his sabotage can hurt the creaky, starving Russian economy. So the neo-gestapo, the SSD, has built a gestapo-like block-by-block network of informers "over there."

Let a worker slow down or grumble, or let a businessman or landowner balk at becoming "VEB"—"owned by the people"—and the non Communist is rrested on his way to work or to some police station to which he has been summoned for some allegedly minor violation.

WHEN RELATIVES attempt to locate the prisoner, they are told that he has been kidnapped by "American agents." Often wives are notified that their husbands have fled to West Berlin to live with other women. Soon, however, word comes that the prisoner can be brought bed linens and underwear — in jail. Sometimes he is released. Usually not.

The "enemy of the state" is kept in solitary confinement for weeks. To get confessions the SSD prevents the prisoner from sleeping, keeps him in a low calorie diet and throws him into one of several special cells.

One of these cubicles in the SSD prison in Soviet - controlled Schwerin is the "cold cell." There the prisoner is kept for several hours being interrogated. No man wants to go back in. He confesses sabotage.

In the Red Gestapo SSD prison at Weimar there are "light cells." Here the prisoner lives under constant 1000 watt lamps. He can't sleep. He has no feeling of passing time under the steady glare. He is in a virtual hypnotic state by the time he is called in for questioning.

dried off, than thrown right back in.

Another type of Weimar cell is narrowly constructed. The prisoner cannot move nor sit down.

Confessions come easy at Weimar, which might interest those who believe that Soviet pledges of co-existence and friendship can be trusted.

Here in Berlin the Soviet officials are slowly permitting some social contact with Western officials. The Russians seem to be under orders to make friends in our sector. So it should be a comparatively simple thing for the co-existence champions to say to their new-found Soviet friends: Never mind, for the moment, pulling your armies out of Southern Asia and Eastern Europe. Just wipe out these gestapo prisons and the SSD.

For example, a new topic of conversation at the little dinners of Soviet officials and their new Western friends in all official occupation headquarters might be the SSD kidnapping squads.

THE SOVIET cultural attache here, a very charming and erudite official who is one of those Russians are counting on to convince us of their new warmth at special dinner parties, might be asked about the disclosures of a former SSD agent on Feb. 11, 1953. This was SSD agent Becker. He broke with the Russian gestapo and revealed that it planned to kidnap a number of prominent members of the "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity," which is supported in part by American money.

WANTS CENSURE — Sen. Ralph Flanders (R., Vt.) is pressing a motion that the Senate censure McCarthy.

Ex - SSD man Becker disclosed that the SSD used "dangerous drugs, brute force and, since the fall of 1952, women."

Becker had been assigned by the SSD to kidnap one of the Fighting Group as the signal for the abduction of the entire staff. This was to be handled by four SSD kidnapping specialists. One man the SSD did snatch was Dr. Walter Linse, economist of the anti-Communist "Investigating Committee of Free Jurists." He's never been heard from.

All this can be documented at Free Jurist headquarters, Berlin, Zehlendorf-West, Linastrasse 29—phone 84 63 23. You might want to check if you think this is just cops and robber stuff.

It isn't. The gestapo rides again in the Soviet zone, and some times into ours.

Indian Festivals

By HAL BOYLE

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP)—The old Sioux, in the days when they ruled the great plains, had a festival that combined in theme several of the white man's holidays.

It was called the sun dance, and to the Indians it was Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving, and a family reunion all wrapped in one.

In those times the wandering Sioux bossed the land and chased the buffalo from Kansas to Canada, from the Mississippi River to the Rocky Mountains.

But once a year the roving tribesmen came together and were knit to a nation by the sun dance, a ceremonial that symbolized their unity and common faith in the Great Spirit.

The government, in an effort to destroy a tradition which it feared always held the danger of stirring up the fierce Sioux in fresh outbreaks, banned the sun dance in 1886. But it was revived more than 20 years ago, and last week Indians came hundreds of miles to the sprawling Pine Ridge reservation here for a renewal of the symbolic centuries-old festival.

In earlier times no formal date for the ceremony was set. The Indians simply drifted together as if pulled by a magnet by nature's signals—the time when the buffalo were fat, when the choke-berries ripened, when new sage sprouts sprang foot - high, when moccasins made a crisp echo in the dry grass of summer.

This year Frank Fools Crow, sent out the call. Thousands of Indians came by horse and wagon, on foot or in beaten up automobiles. They pitched their modern tents and faded teepees around a great enclosure of willow poles hung with green pine boughs.

In the center of the enclosure stood a slender young cottonwood tree. The tree, selected in advance by a medicine man, had been carried to the site and erected by strong Braves who took care to see that none of its leaves touched the ground. To the Sioux the leaves of this sacred tree stood for human hearts, and must not be bruised.

Sheafs of sweet-smelling sage—standing for purity—were placed in the croch. From them dangled a piece of buffalo robe and man-shaped figure cut from a piece of buffalo skin, symbolizing the Sioux dependence on the buffalo.

The sun dance itself is designed to demonstrate the four great Sioux virtues—bravery, generosity, fortitude and integrity.

This year three young Braves volunteered for the ordeal. Two were veterans who had pledged themselves to perform a sun dance in gratitude for their safe return from Korea.

To purify and prepare themselves, the three first took a sweat bath in an "In", or sweat house, made of willow bows covered with buffalo skins. Steam was provided by pouring water over hot rocks in a pit within the sweat house.

The dancers were then painted—red for the sun, blue for the sky, yellow for the rocks, green for the earth.

Without food or water the three men then danced around the cottonwood tree to the music of beating tom-toms and the eerie, high-pitched chants of singers. They danced in turn in the direction of the four winds, pausing only when the tom-tom beaters had to rest.

I watched the dance for part of each day, but to me the dance, monotonous in itself, was less interesting than the faces of the old Indians and their squaws on the sidelines.

They wore a look of mingled pride, mystic exaltation and sadness. To them this was no dance of celebration—it was the pageant of mankind's terrible struggle to survive, a victory of man's spirit over all the enemies he meets in his brief life under a blazing sun.

The look on the faces of the young Braves in the audience was different. Few seemed stirred by the symbolism of the dance. They were more interested in making eyes at the young Indian maidens.

For them the sun dance was just another opportunity for courtship. Frank Fools Crow, who wears long braids as his forefathers did, said sadly:

"The young Indians no longer care much for our old customs. This may be our last sun dance."

maidens prefer to jitterbug. Slowly but inevitably the once mighty Sioux are taking the white man's roads, roads that will scatter them to the four winds.

Eva Lynn Pugh of Minerva Weds Rev. Winston B. Smith

Two ministers officiated at the ceremony Thursday evening in the Methodist Church in Minerva, uniting their son and daughter in matrimony.

Principals in the service were Rev. Winston Brasher Smith, the new pastor of the Damascus and Bunker Hill Methodist Churches, and Eva Lynn Pugh.

The daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. Stanley Pugh of Minerva, and the son of Rev. and Mrs. M. Ray Smith of East Liverpool exchanged vows in the impressive ceremony conducted by their fathers.

A prelude of sacred music was presented on the organ by Miss Marie Doroff. Mrs. Arthur Lindsay was soloist.

Dr. David S. Pugh was escort for his sister, taking her to the altar where white asters, carnations and palms were combined in the setting.

The bride wore a long ivory embroidered satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar, and long fitted sleeves, pointed at the wrists. The full skirt featured a train bound with a wide band of plain satin. Her imported illusion veil was attached to a Brussels lace cap which was studded with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Mrs. W. D. Jersey of Rochester, Pa., served her sister as matron of honor, in a petal pink real silk gown styled in princess fashion. Shirley Rae Smith, sister of the bridegroom, and Imogene Tschabold were bridesmaids in pure silk ice blue princess gowns. All the attendants carried white Bibles with carnations of contrasting shades on the covers.

The bride's mother was attired in navy silk with navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue ensemble with white accessories. Both mothers complemented their costumes with pink rose corsages.

Dr. Myron Smith of Philadelphia served his cousin as best man. Rev. M. L. Smith and Rev. T. H. Smith, other cousins, were ushers.

Writers Union Calls Off Strike Against Networks
HOLLYWOOD — A strike against three networks by the Television Writers of America, an independent union, has been called off.

Ben Starr, union president, said yesterday the strike lacked the support of other writers. The union called the walkout July 21 against the Columbia Broadcasting System, National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. Union demands included "equitable minimums, reduced fees and the union shop."

For a half-hour commercial script the union had asked $715, whereas the best offer from the studios had been $450 and, when negotiations were suspended, this offer had been reduced to $425. There are no fixed scales at present.

New Solution Effective In Fly Control

LSBON — The latest thing to control farmyard flies is a Malathion - sugar solution sprayed on barn walls, according to the Columbiana County agricultural extension service.

The release said the material is effective for three or four weeks, but should not be used on livestock.

A malathion bait, also effective, can be made at home by using two ounces of 50 per cent Malathion solution with a half pound of sugar or a half pint of molasses.

Add a gallon and a half of water. A half pint of methoxychlor or Lindane can be added for a more potent spray, the report claims.

Sprinkle the bait on floors in barns and garages and on doorways or on empty burlap bags left on floors.

Floyd Lower, agricultural extension agent, said grasshoppers are chewing up crops in localized spots in Ohio. Some farmers, he said, are spraying clover fields left for seed with toxaphene. Roadsides and borders along fields of corn, tomatoes and other crops can be treated before the grasshoppers march into the fields.

A weed sprayer applying a pound and a half of actual toxaphene, or two ounces of dieldrin or aldrin, per acre will kill the 'hoppers, Lower said.

European corn borers have infested some sweet corn and field corn in the county, although most of the Ohio corn hybrids are resistant to the worm.

Although not found yet in this county, chinch bugs are raising havoc in 20 central and western counties.

Yankees' Ford Stops Indians 2-1 Before Crowd Of 60,643

Mossi Starts, Hurls 1 Inning

Doby's Homer Is Only Score For Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I've been getting a lot better last month, but tonight really had wonderful stuff," said southpaw Whitey Ford, whose four-hit pitching brought the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory last night over the league-leading Cleveland Indians.

The 25-year-old hurler struck out six and walked four Cleveland batters in the game, the opener of a three-game series, which cut the Indians' lead to 1½ games.

Ford, who posted his 11th victory against six defeats, said that besides using his fast ball, "I came in with curves on the inside to the left-handers, like Doby."

It was Doby, blasting his 23rd home run of the season, who tallied in the first inning for Cleveland's only score.

That didn't happen on a bad pitch, the Yankee left-hander declared, adding: "I wouldn't be afraid to throw it to him again. I came in with that one right in on his fists and he didn't really hit it good. You ask him and he'll tell you that. The thing is, he's so strong he can hit a ball badly and still hit it over the fence."

Besides Doby, only Vic Wertz, Wally Westlake and Jim Hegan managed to get as much as a single off the chunky left hander.

The New Yorkers grabbed seven hits off Don Mossi, Art Houtteman and Ray Narleski. Houtteman took the rap for the game, when he served catcher Yogi Berra a third-inning single that produced the Yankees' winning runs. Berra's roller through the right side of the Indians' infield scored Irv Noren, who had singled, and Mickey Mantle, who had poked a two-bagger.

Except for Westlake's harmless single, Ford held the Tribe hitless in the last five frames.

A crowd of 60,643 jammed Municipal Stadium and set an attendance record for the regular season. Left hander Don Mossi, who started for the Tribe, pitched only one inning.

Complaining of an upset stomach before the game, he assured Manager Al Lopez he was well enough to pitch.

After the Yankees loaded the bases with one out on an error by Bob Avila and two walks, Lopez hurried to the mound and asked Mossi if he felt all right.

Mossi said, "Yes," and proceeded to strike out Bill Skowron and retire Gil McDougald on a pop foul to Al Rosen.

But Houtteman entered in the second and allowed six hits and the two Yankee runs. Ray Narleski, hurling the last two frames, yielded one hit.

Cleveland's Bob Lemon seeks his 14th victory against five losses in tonight's game. Facing him will be Alie Reynolds, who has a 10-2 record.

Behind the two-hit pitching of Jim Campbell, the Washingtonville Boosters dropped Niles 8-1 in Austintown Colt League play at Washingtonville Tuesday.

The Boosters countered three runs in the first on an error, two fielder's choices and two wild pitches. Red Bell's single sent home another tally in the third, and in the fourth, two walks and singles by Campbell and Tony Less led to three more runs. Dave Gwynnes two-bagger accounted for the final marker.

Campbell and Tony Less each had two hits to lead the attack. Campbell fanned 10 batters.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. Lide

The Ohio Division of Wildlife stocked 150 fingerling brown trout in the headwaters of Little Beaver Creek Saturday.

They were released at the point where Cold Run intersects with the creek in Center Township.

This is not the first time trout have been stocked. About 15 years ago trout were released in Cold Run near the County Home. They stuck around for a couple of years and finally disappeared.

Observing their actions after being released, one of the fingerlings proceeded to pick off a bug on the surface of the water which indicated they were in good shape.

Hundreds of hog-nosed suckers and stone rollers were observed and the addition of the trout provided strange "bed fellows." There are a few trout in the main branch of Little Beaver at present, the result of stocking by the state of Pennsylvania in the headwaters.

A NEW LAW which became effective Aug. 1st now permits an individual to take and possess 500 minnows. It isn't likely that a fisherman would try to keep 500 minnows at one time in a minnow pail but he can arrange his own holding basin and have them on hand when he wants them.

Under the old law a person was limited to 100 minnows in possession at one time. I can't see where this new law makes any difference. A man could buy 100 minnows or seine his own and if he used them up it would be a simple matter to buy another hundred from another dealer and no one would know the difference.

I think it is a good law and prevents violations and another step by the Council to help the fishermen. If you are one of the fellows why thinks this will decrease the minnow population all you have to do is go any place along Little Beaver Creek and see minnows by the thousands. Might be a good thing if there were some way to decrease the stone roller and the sucker minnows.

SEPT. 15 TO OCT. 15 has definitely been set as the opening and closing dates for squirrels this coming season, both dates inclusive.

If we don't get some much needed rain by that time there will be little satisfaction in hunting squirrels. Rustling leaves and snapping twigs give the squirrels fair warning of the hunters approach. And even when he finally conceals himself in a likely spot the mosquitoes and other insects cause him to fidget around and bat insects so the squirrel knows of his presence. Dry weather just doesn't provide the right conditions for squirrel hunting.

OPENING DATES for other game has been established but not the closing dates. Hunting begins for rabbit, pheasant, grouse and Hungarian partridge Nov. 1.

Night hunting for raccoon, opossum and skunk begins at 7 p.m., Nov. 1st.

Inland and Lake Erie trapping for mink, muskrat, raccoon, skunk and opossum begins Dec. 1. Action on a 1954 deer season by the Wildlife Council was tabled until a later date.

The final "Hunting and Trapping Guide" will be in the hands of all license agencies by Oct. 1 and hunters should be sure to get one and read it so you will know the rules and regulations before going afield.

I have been asked time and again if we will have an open season on deer this year. I have no idea what Council will do but as soon as they take final action it will be released to all the newspapers and radio stations.

OBSERVATIONS: Field corn looking good on one side of the road and all wilted on the other. Miserable driving on the by-ways when there is a car ahead of you kicking up the dust. Westville Lake becoming a sad looking sight with the water level going down daily to supply drinking water for Sebring and Alliance. Emergency ponds constructed here and there, to provide water for cattle, that will wash away with the first heavy rain.

Carnation Handicap Set For Randall Park

Randall Park's 42-day meeting moves into high gear this week with fillies and mares taking over the spotlight in the featured $5,000 added Scarlet Carnation Handicap Saturday. With 11 days of racing written into the records, the Randall meeting is well ahead of last year's record-breaking session despite the fact that daily programs are limited to eight races except on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

This week's headliner is expected to attract a record field of distaff speedsters. Last year's winner of the Scarlet Carnation, Mes-tiza, owned by Smith and Steele is slated to defend her honors.

Lisbon Upsets Demings, Salem Tool Moves Into 1st; Bliss Trips Grange

The biggest night of "AA" action of the season Tuesday at Kelley Field resulted in a complete reshuffling of the league standings as six of the seven squads in the loop found themselves in different positions this morning.

In the first game of the night, last place Lisbon pulled its second consecutive upset in as many nights — and one of the top surprises of the season — by nipping first place Demings 3-2.

In other action, Bliss tromped Butler Grange 8-0 and Salem Tool won a big one from Paul and Joe 9-4.

Thus, Tool jumps back into first place while Demings drops to second, a half-game out. Tool plays Mullins tonight and a loss for Tool would deadlock Demings and Tool for the top rung.

Mullins, idle last night, moved in to third place while Butler Grange dropped to fourth. With Bliss winning and Paul and Joe losing, those two teams are now knotted for fifth place, three lengths behind the leaders.

Lisbon is still in last place, but after its wins Monday over Mullins and last night over Demings its record is now evened up at nine wins and nine losses. Lisbon is 5½ games from the top.

Joe Sieffke drove in all three Lisbon runs to lead to one of the biggest upsets of the season.

Demings jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the third as John Zones walked, Ed Ducazo singled, an error on Al Zecolo's sacrifice let in one tally and Dick Boughton's long fly scored another.

Andy Cartwright tripped and scored on Joe Sieffke's sacrifice fly to narrow the margin to 2-1. Sieffke singled home Bob Brinker in the fifth to even the count. Lisbon won the game in the last of the seventh when Sieffke drove out another sacrifice fly with the bases loaded.

Lisbon hurler Paul Louie pitched the four-hitter, with Zecolo getting two of them. Fred Matix had three hits for Lisbon.

Salem Tool 9, Paul and Joe 4
A big 6-run third inning enabled Tool to coast home and easily glide into first place.

Tom Pastier led off with a single, and then, after two were out, Jerry Ball, Tom Cope, John Baker and Leo Kline all singled and Jerry Jeffries powered a long home run accounting for the 6 tallies.

Wheel Harrigan's three-run double in the fifth was the big blow for Paul and Joe. Nelson Melling homered for the last P&J run.

Tool scored again in the 6th on a double by Jerry Ball while Bill Herman smashed a two-bagger for another marker in the seventh.

Herman was the winning pitcher. Bliss 8, Butler 0.

"Muscles" Russell's three-hitter settled the decision in this game. A triple by veteran catcher Pete Davis and infield hits by Al Chamberlain and manager "Peanuts" Debnar led to a four-run inning and Russell breezed home without trouble.

He had six strikeouts. Davis was the hitting star with two safeties, including his long triple. Grange was guilty of four runs errors.

The league standings are:

Attorneys Move To Delay Hearing

Drunk Tells Police He Killed Woman

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Lorain steelworker who telephoned police from a bar provided a diversion last night in the Sheppard murder case.

He was picked up and brought to central police station after telephoning, "He didn't do it, I killed her." The arresting officers said he was intoxicated.

Shortly after the July 4 slaying of a former Cleveland, George W. Ennis, 36, made a similar telephone call in Baltimore. He was brought here as a parole violator and last week was sentenced to one to ten years.

Meanwhile attorneys for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, engaged in a minor legal skirmish in the court of appeals.

The young Bay Village osteopath is charged with first-degree murder, accused of clubbing his wife Marilyn, 31, to death in their home.

In another move, detectives took a signed statement from a Bay Village man last night and then released him, without disclosing what connection he might have had with the case.

In the legal maneuver, lawyers for Dr. Sheppard got a temporary writ to prevent Bay Village Council President Gershom M. Barber, from conducting a preliminary hearing on the charge against the doctor.

Wants Barber
Appellate Judge Joy Seth Hurd set 10 a. m. Friday to listen to a request that Barber be prohibited from holding the hearing. Hurd issued an alternative (temporary) writ to prevent the Bay Village hearing before Friday, but is not scheduled until Saturday.

Dr. Sheppard's lawyers contend Barber is "without power of jurisdiction" to hold a preliminary hearing.

They had made this same contention in a plea Monday for writ of habeas corpus. Their plea was denied, but they are appealing. Barber issued the warrant for Dr. Sheppard's arrest and committed him to the county jail because Mayor J. Spencer Houk is expected to be a witness, and disqualified himself. Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick ruled Monday that Ohio law permits acting mayors to serve in the mayor's place whenever the mayor is prevented from acting, for any reason.

The purpose of Saturday's hearing in Bay Village would be to decide whether there is enough evidence to hold Dr. Sheppard for the Cuyahoga County grand jury. Then it would be up to the grand jury to decide whether there is enough evidence to indict him and bring him to trial. Unless both sides agree otherwise, a preliminary hearing must be held within 10 days of an arrest, which in the Sheppard case was last Friday.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED
Children and teenagers of Branches 18 and 19 of the Salem Saxon Club will be entertained at a square dance Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Saxon Country Club. Don Stelts will call the dances. Each child is to bring wieners and buns, and the adults will serve refreshments.

Armas Retains Rule, Breaks New Revolt

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas and Guatemala's regular army still governed their nation in shaky shotgun political union today after surrender of holdout dissident troops at the Aurora base just outside the capital.

The defiant units, apparently hoping to force Castillo Armas out, had refused to honor the agreement Monday night pledging the army's full support to the governing junta in exchange for the disbanding of the President's "liberation army" of irregulars.

Blockade Breaks Group
Castillo Armas announced the Aurora units had surrendered last night after the President's honor guard blocked all roads to the base and threatened to attack. He said the base commander and his second in command had been imprisoned and the junta had put Col. Ramon Gonzalez in command of the base.

Castillo Armas insisted army commanders loyal to the junta were in complete control of the country and "absolute calm" prevailed. But he made no move to countermand his order earlier yesterday halting dissolution of his irregular units in the key provincial cities of Zacapa and Chiquimula.

"Liberationists" Disarmed
The 700 "liberationists" in Guatemala City were disarmed Monday night after they had battled for 12 hours with cadets of the national military academy and troops from the Aurora base. Twenty-five persons were killed and 70 were wounded.

The battle resulted from a drunken brawl between a group of cadets and a group of irregulars in a house of prostitution.

The order to disband the irregulars brought thousands of protesting demonstrators before the national palace yesterday, many in mourning for those killed in Monday's battle. Castillo Armas in a balcony appearance pleaded for calm. He said he was keeping his personal force under arms in the two provincial centers because "new lamentable clashes could occur" if their disbanding was ordered.

FINED ON TRAFFIC COUNT
James N. Reed, 25, of Spout Springs, Va., was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Mayor Dean B. Crammer for operating a truck without a P.U.C.O. permit.

TEACHERS' PAY HIKED
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The school board has approved a $150 pay hike for teachers, whose new salary schedule provides a top of $5,650 for those who hold bachelor's degrees, and $5,850 for masters' degree holders.

McCarthy

Pastore (R) and Edwin C. Johnson (C).

"Knowland and Lyndon Johnson pressed for speedy action so that the six-member committee could make an early inquiry and report back before scheduled midmonth adjournment of Congress.

The accusations stem mostly from McCarthy's Communist-hunting tactics, his financial operations and his criticisms of fellow senators and government officials.

Awaiting choice of what some senators referred to as the "jury," McCarthy said in an interview he believes his accusers should appear first before the special committee. After that, he said, he will be ready to reply.

Sen. George said the committee "should have closed hearings and reduce the charges to four or five of sufficient substance that they would be grounds for censure, if they were proved. Then it might be possible for the committee to dispose of a charge a day in hearings."

Chairman Ferguson (Mich.) of the Senate GOP Policy Committee said he thinks the Senate committed itself by its 75-12 vote sending the McCarthy issue to the special committee to remain in Washington until it has a specific report on which to act.

17-Month-Old Salem Girl Ill Of Polio

Carol Jo Panzetti, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Panzetti, of 443 Woodland Ave., is reported in fair condition today at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown after having become ill with polio Sunday.

Physicians said the child has not suffered any paralysis thus far.

Mrs. Panzetti said her daughter was taken to an Alliance doctor Sunday after she became ill. The doctor diagnosed the illness as polio and ordered her taken to the hospital.

Children who had come in contact with Carol Jo just prior to her sickness were given gamma globulin shots Monday. The young girl is the Panzett's only child.

Carol Jo is the second Salem youngster to acquire polio this season. John Strain, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Strain of Thimble St., became slightly ill with the disease July 19.

Victor Mature Replaced In Movie, Suspended

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Victor Mature's studio has suspended him and replaced him in the cast of a picture for failure to appear for wardrobe tests.

The suspension was ordered yesterday by 20th Century-Fox and was followed immediately by the assignment of Richard Egan to Mature's role in "Untamed," with Tyrone Power and Susan Hayward. Mature was reported golfing at Del Mar.

Greatest Development in Brewing Since Repeal!

FROST-FINISHED

Developed in Goebel's great research laboratories

Flavor's up . . . up . . . up! Yes, Goebel's exclusive Frost-Finishing brewing process now brings you a beer that's light and dry, yet still retains a rare, full flavor.

Years of research and testing by Goebel scientists stand behind this greatest advance in brewing since beer came back.

Frost-Finishing is two additional brewing steps, during which the temperature of the beer is quickly dropped to points close to freezing. This captures the flavor of Goebel Beer at its peak of perfection and locks it in.

Enjoy today's Goebel 22 next time you visit your favorite tavern or take-out store. You've never tasted a beer with a finer flavor, a beer so frosty dry and satisfying. Once you try Goebel, it's Goebel for good.
